Wild Rumors Won't Assist School Bonds

Talk to the effect that if the $80,000 bonds and 50 cent over-ride tax fail in the April 20 school election, kindergarten will be discontinued and the Symphony and Bach Festival adult school projects will be abandoned has been floating around town for several days as the result of misunderstanding and inaccurate report of informal discussions at the citizens' committee meeting Friday night.

The school board could discontinue kindergarten tomorrow, and if 25 parents signed a petition, the board would have to start it up again, School Superintendent Stuart Mitchell told the Pine Cone yesterday. It's a state law.

As for the Symphony and Bach Festival rehearsals being dropped from adult school, they not only pay their own way in A. D. A., (state support in relation to attendance) but help carry some of the less well-attended adult school classes, Adult School Principal Charles Dawson, reports.

Also, whether or not the bonds or over-ride tax pass, the community will continue to have the use of the school plant for meeting at night, and the use of Sunset Auditorium. Property owners in the district have been paying a 2 cent "community center" tax for years to cover the "over-head" cost of the use of school rooms by clubs and discussion groups at night. This tax may not be diverted for school operation or construction. So the Stamp Club will not find

Symphony Concert For Carmel Kids Saturday Morning

Carmel students will be transported in school buses to the free annual Youth Concert of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra in King Hall at the United States Naval Postgraduate School on Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Tickets have been distributed through private and public schools in Carmel and Carmel Valley, but any student, above the fifth grade, may attend without an admission card. Buses leave Sunset School at 10:30 o'clock and return at 12:30. Students may also ride to the Youth Concert in private cars.

Conductor Gregory Millar and the Orchestra have prepared a comprehensive program of 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th century symphonic music, from the works of Frescobaldi, Mozart, Tschaikowsky and Copland. The compositions represent the Italian, German, Russian and American schools of music and trace the development of symphony music from the 17th century to the present day. The selections will be presented at the Youth Concert exactly as played on regular symphony programs this season.

Conductor Millar will explain the music, verbally, and each member of the audience will receive typed notes on the composer, the music, and the structure of the composition. The program opens with Frescobaldi's Toccata, var-

Carmel Red Cross Drive Opens Monday Quota Is $26,600.00

The Red Cross Fund Drive for 1958 opens Monday. Corum Jackson, chairman of the Carmel Red Cross stated that the fund drive is " an appeal to the people." The Red Cross needs funds for services to the people, specifically, the people of Carmel. The quota set for 1958 is $26,600.

"We need $19,790 to maintain local services," stated Mr. Jackson, " the Red Cross, Your Red Cross; provides more local services than any other agency. The balance, $6,810, will go to the National Red Cross, and will be used mainly for disaster relief. If we needed them, these funds too would be used locally. For instance, this past week we've narrowly avoided a disaster in Northern California. If California had been in trouble, the National Red Cross would have

Honorable Body Handled Ninety-One Individual Matters

Balm to the hearts of one of the most frequently abused boards in Carmel was the following appreciative report of their activities for the past year, drawn up by City Clerk Larry Rose and presented to the Carmel Planning Commission at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Planning Commission:

"During the year 1957 your Honorable Body handled 91 individual matters besides the routine affairs of the Commission. It required 20 business meetings, as well as 16 study sessions, to receive, process and complete action on these matters. The Board of Adjustments met on 8 occasions. Frequently individual matters carried through several months, rather than being resolved in one meeting. An exceptional instance of this fact was the General Plan. Received by the Commission in June of 1956, it was not adopted until May of 1957, during which period many committee meetings and four public hearings were held.

A detailed distribution of the matters by character is as follows: New Buildings, 11; Alterations and Additions, 32; Variances and Adjustments, 6; Reclassifications, 3; Subdivisions and Building Sites, 12; Off-Street Parking, 3; Signs, private and public, 4; Zoning and Land Use, 5; Streets and Sidewalks, 1; Landscaping, 1; Public Facilities, 1; Industrial Pollution, 1; Annexations, 1; Administration, 10.

As is usual, much of the routine work of the Commission, though it may have proved time-consuming,

Robert E. Ross Buys Shand Real Estate, "Trev" To Stay On

Robert E. Ross has bought the 36-year-old Shand Real Estate business and will move into the Shand office on Dolores Street near Seventh, both parties of the agreement told the Pine Cone this week.

"Trev." Shand will not retire, but continue in the office as an independent broker.

Mrs. Shand, who has been active in the business since 1921, will "have time to enjoy our retirement home," she says.

Lenore Foster will be in charge of rentals for Robert E. Ross and Company, the name that will go up on one of the office windows, a familiar name in Monterey where Mr. Ross has been operating a real estate and investment business for seven years, making his home on Carmel Point with his wife, Elizabeth. They have two children, Bobby, 9, who goes to River School, and Craven, 20, in the real estate business in San

When the Citizens' Annexation Study Committee held its organizational meeting Tuesday night, Mayor John Chitwood emphasized that they are to be an independent body. He had no charge for them from the council for or against annexation, and he hoped that regardless of any preconceptions of their own the committee members may have, they will put them aside and attempt to develop facts rather than opinions, but, "We hope that you will keep in mind that the true objective is to keep the essential nature of the community."

The mayor further suggested that they look at the problem not only from the point of view of "total annexation" of all the unincorporated area ringing Carmel but also investigate the advantages of partial annexation, that is, taking in some areas that may be more easily assimilated.

Mr. Chitwood opened his remarks with the comment that the problem of annexation is a continuing question regardless of present developments. The "present developments" refer to the recent straw vote taken by Car-

The adventures of Mrs. Potter's egg-head mouse is designed for the enjoyment of "ages 6 to 8" but it is doubtful anyone of any age can fail to enjoy the amusing and suspenseful story, or the lovable pictures Zenas has drawn to assist young imaginations not up to visualizing, for instance, Mr. Mole paying a call with a worm on a leash.

Peggy Still Concerned About The Lonely Hearts

BY DAISY BOSTICK

Just received a book inscribed by the author to her "dear friend." That's me. The book is Meet More People — Have More Fun. Published by Putnam. The author is Faith Perkins, who in real life is Peggy Bramer, who was formerly Peggy Perkins. When you get all that straightened out, and if you're an old-timer in these parts, you may remember a pretty soft-voiced, rather shy young girl who came here from San Francisco and had an itch to write.

Peggy's career as a Carmel writer suffered a set-back when romance came into her life. She married Rudolph Bramer, bore him two sons, Bill and Baird, and for a time wasn't interested in anything but babies. But she managed to get out a book, Have a Baby or Two. It became a radio program shortly after Pearl Harbor, entitled, Your Child and Mine. It didn't last long because the manufacturers were making almost no baby things—mothers had to stand in line to get diapers—so a sponsor of such a show was out of the question.

Back in those old days Peggy and I got to be good friends, and I saw a lot of her. She finally found it best to take her little family back to San Francisco and to concentrate on her writing. Years passed before I saw her again. Then one day she arrived on my doorstep bearing an overnight bag and a bottle of wine. We dined and chattered and gossiped until almost sunup. Another decade went by, and on a day last summer, she and her two boys, who had become handsome young men, came up my brick walk and we had another gabfest. She was then writing her book and now she announces the birth of her brainchild.

Few people are qualified to

March 6, 7, 8 — Carmel Invitational Tournament, 4:30-10:00 p.m.

HOLLISTER-CARMEL CAGERS IN TRIPLE-HEADER FRIDAY NIGHT

The Hollister Haybalers pay a visit to the Carmel pavilion this Friday for triple-header basketball action with the Carmel Padres. The Haybaler varsity is currently resting in second place in the B-division of the CCAL and could possibly earn a tie with Gilroy for the top spot if the Mustangs lose Friday night and the Haybalers get over the Padres. Hollister's varsity set a new league scoring record by clipping the Carmel heavies, 80 to 46, in the first round meeting, but the Red & Gray squad has come a long way since the first meeting and will make the visitors scramble to win this one. Coach Dan Yurkovich's starting crew of Dale Dawson, the league's top scorer, Frank Wallace, Phil Durbrow, Bill Hicks, and Dennis Peavey have all been hitting in double figures in recent games and would like nothing better than to avenge the clobbering dished out by the Haybalers in the first meeting. A win over Hollister will also assure the Padres of a third-place finish in the B-division title chase.

If the two lightweight squads can put on the same type of battle which unfolded at the Hollister gym the first time around, fans are in for an exciting preliminary tussle. The last meeting between the limiteds wasn't decided until the final buzzer when the Hayseeds squeaked through with a three-point victory. The Hollister lights are also in second place in the league standings but there are three schools, Carmel, Pacific Grove, Gilroy, and Gonzales, breathing down their neck for the runner-up spot. Live Oak with an 11-2 record has cinched the B-league lightweight crown and this Friday's action is strictly for the second-place spot. Carmel's lightweight squad will platoon with a Gold unit of Phil O'Shea, Dave Hansen, Pat Boyle, Larry Dufur, and Pete DePetra; a Red unit of Ron Faia, Mike Dunham, Toby Edson, Mike Draper, and Walt Helm; a Blue unit of Pete Willcox, Pete Osborne, Russ Wise, David, Farr, and Pat Boyle.

First game of Friday's triple-header will match the junior-varsity squads of the two schools with the Carmel boys favored to repeat a first round victory over the Haybaler reserves. Coach Chuck Dawson will open with a starting quintet of Chris Wilkin, John Wilkin, Hal Gregerson, Ron Hinchcliffe, and Tom Green. Junior-varsity action gets underway at 5:00 oclock, lightweights at 7:00, and the varsity squads take over at 8:15.

PADRES WIN PAIR FROM KING CITY; DIVIDE WITH SALINAS

Carmel High's surging varsity basketball team ran its win streak to five straight at the expense of the hapless King City Mustangs at the Carmel pavilion last Friday night but saw the skein stopped Tuesday afternoon when the Salinas Cowboys took the measure of the local preps. The fast-improving Red and Gray squad had clipped Pacific Grove, San Lorenzo, Live Oak, Gonzales, and King City in succession before bowing to the A-league Cowboys.

Friday night's league game with King City ended up with the Padres in front, 49 to 43, but the score doesn't tell the difference between the two teams. Coach Dan Yurkovich used his reserves freely in this one and the Padres had the game sewed up as early as the third quarter. Dale Dawson pumped through 17 points to maintain his high average for the season and is still pushing Gilroy's Dick Smith for B-division scoring title. While Dawson was providing the scoring punch for the Padres, Bill Hicks, Dennis Peavey, Frank Wallace, and Phil Durbrow were doing an outstanding job of rebounding and defense to keep the Mustangs under control. Bill Hicks, improving with every game, has been a big cog in the Padre surge and is now rated one of the top forwards in the CCAL. The husky Carmel sharpshooter plays solid defense, rebounds with the best of them, and is probably the best shooting forward in the league.

Carmel's lightweight platoons also found the King City opposition to their liking and clipped the Ponies, 29 to 17, with their sticky defense and some good shooting by Walt Helm, Russ Wise, and Ron Faia. The Carmel lights found a cover on the basket during the first quarter and scored a total of one point in the initial period. However, the cover slipped off in the second quarter and the halftime totals read, King City 9, Carmel 9. Carmel's defense began to pay off late in the third period when the Little Padres broke in front 26-13 and never looked back.

Tuesday afternoon the Carmel boys, subbing liberally, the A division Salinas Cowboys and copped two out of three games in the triple-header action. The Carmel jayvees parlayed the excellent shooting of Hal Gregerson, Ron Hinchcliffe, and Chris Wilkin with the powerful rebounding of John Wilkin to dump the Salinas junior-varsity, 39 to 26. Carmel's lightweight squad avenged an earlier drubbing at the hands of the Cowbabes by upsetting them, 36 to 23, as Pat Boyle, fast-improving center, pushed through 12 points and snared 14 rebounds. The three Carmel lightweight platoons played outstanding defense and the Salinas lads were having trouble getting through for the clean shots which pay off. Carmel's varsity lost by a 20-point margin to the big Cowboys who were hot in their shooting. Salinas hit over 55% of their floor shots and were better than 80% on their free-throws. While the visitors were in a torrid shooting streak, the Padres were having trouble finding the basket and were getting only one shot as the Cowboys continually beat them to the rebounds.

Out Of Towners At Ashley - Handford Cocktail Party

Many out-of-town guests came to Carmel for the cocktail party given Thursday evening by Charles Handford and James Ashley, co-owners of the Ashley-Handford Travel Agency in Carmel. Guests were entertained in the newly-decorated offices of Jim Ashley and "Chuck" Handford, in a setting which combines mementoes from many parts of the world: oriental screens, Turkish brass, Indonesian sculpture, North African mosaics and an unusual relief map which covers one wall of the offices.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ashley, parents of Jim, came from Fresno to serve as co-hosts for the evening. Guests from San Francisco were: Ralph C. Warren, manager German Tourist office; Giovanni Bentivoglio, Italian State Tourist office; Gody Egli, Swiss National Tourist office; Dan D. George, Varig Brazilian Airlines; David H. Watson, Northwest Orient Airlines; Samuel S. Iseri, Northwest Orient Airlines; Boyd B. Madison, Qantas (Australian Airlines); Fred C. Grant, British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC); Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson, French Line; Mrs. Betty Mann, Iberia Spanish Airlines; Mr. Robert Potter, SAS (Scandinavian Airlines System); and Warren E. Bairden, Trans World Airlines, San Jose; Mrs. Eleanor Douglas, Palo Alto, and Mr. E. P. Wolff, Los Angeles.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The meaning for today of Christ Jesus' healing mission will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" is the Golden Text from John (18:37): "To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (131:26-29): "The mission of Jesus confirmed prophecy, and explained the so-called miracles of olden time as natural demonstrations of the divine power, demonstrations which were not understood."

The following will be included in the Scriptural readings (Matthew 4:24): "And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them."

Dr. MacDougal

Dr. Daniel Trembly MacDougal, internationally known botanist associated with Carmel since 1909, died on Saturday in a local rest home after a period of failing health, three weeks before his ninety-third birthday.

Dr. MacDougal was born on March 16, 1865, in Liberty, Indiana. He grew up on the farm homesteaded by his Scottish grandparents when they emigrated to the United States; and graduated from high school in 1881. He entered DePauw University and received a B.S. degree in 1890, an A.M. degree from the same university in 1894, and an LL.D. in 1912. In 1891 Purdue University granted Dr. MacDougal an M.S. degree and a Ph.D. in 1897. From 1895-96 he studied in Germany at Tubingen and Leipzig. In 1915 the University of Arizona awarded an LL.D. to Dr. MacDougal.

He explored Arizona and Idaho during 1891-92 as an agent for the United States Department of Agriculture and in 1893 was married to Louise Fisher and became an instructor in plant physiology at the University of Minnesota. He was made an assistant professor in 1895 and retained this position until 1899 when he was appointed director of laboratories and assistant director of the New York Botanical Garden. In 1905 Dr. MacDougal left this post to become director of the Department of Botanical Research and Laboratory for Plant Physiology for the Carnegie Institution of Washington until his retirement in 1933.

During his years with the Carnegie Institution, Dr. MacDougal helped establish the Desert Laboratory in Tucson, Arizona, and in 1909 came to Carmel to found the Carnegie Coastal Laboratory situated at Junipero and Twelfth Streets.

Scientists came to this laboratory to do research during the summers, some remaining the year round, until the Carnegie Institution closed the project during World War II, when Dr. MacDougal and the late Dr. Francis E. Lloyd were the only scientists using the buildings.

Dr. MacDougal established a summer home in Carmel in 1910, and in 1921 built a permanent home in Carmel Highlands. Several years ago he sold this house and moved into a smaller one which he built nearby. Mrs. MacDougal died in 1947.

He was a life member of the Botanical Society of America, the American Society of Plant Physiology, the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Torrey Botanical Club. Abroad he held membership in Dutch and French scientific organizations, was an honorary member of the Botanical Society of Edinburgh and a corresponding member of the Czechoslovak Botanical Society. In 1910 Dr. MacDougal served as president of the American Society of Naturalists and from 1920-25 had the distinguished honor of being general secretary for the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He was elected an honorary member of the California Academy of Sciences in 1957 and twice served as honorary president of the International Botanical Congress, when it met in Stockholm in 1950 and in Paris in 1954. In 1956 Dr. MacDougal was awarded the only Certificate of Distinguished Service ever granted by the New York Botanical Garden.

He published many scientific papers on plant growth in relation to environment, desert ecology, in which he was a world authority, and cycles of plant life with particular regard to tree growth and the Monterey Pine.

Dr. MacDougal was president of the local Community Chest in 1940-41, later chairman of the group's executive committee. He also served as president of the Peninsula Community Center and for many years was president of the Monterey County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Survivors are his grandson, Philip MacDougal of Carmel Highlands, and a sister Mrs. Addie Nickels of Bloomington, Indiana.

Private funeral services were held on Monday in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium. Inurnment is to be in St. Paul Cemetery, Yakima, Washington. Mission Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

Monterey Peninsula Concert Association presented Camilla Williams, soprano, with William Allen at the piano, as their fourth event this season. Being of the same race as Marian Anderson, it was a surprise to find a voice so bright in quality where usually there is a deeper undertone, but together with Allen, Camilla Williams delivered a program of Handel, Brahms, Strauss (both Richard and Johann), Massenet, Dougherty, Kagen, Weil and four negro spirituals with much artistic and dramatic instinct, and delighted her audience from the first Pack Clouds Away by Handel.

Her experience has been full and important in the leading Festivals, Opera and Symphonic groups of Europe, North and South America and Canada, so much was expected. Her delivery and deportment pleased responsive listeners, though the faulty acoustics of the auditorium seemed at times to interfere with projection. When I moved and listened to part of the program from the back row under the balcony, I found that diction and tone came over in full strength and expression. It was, however, at the end, that the artist proved an extraordinary power. In the final encore she sang unaccompanied the negro spiritual, They Crucified My Lord. I had been obliged to leave for another engagement but several have reported to me what a profound impression she caused with bowed head and deeply expressed emotion that so stilled the audience no applause ensued in the ordinary manner, and all moved quietly out with many in tears. It takes an artist of great dramatic and profound feeling to accomplish such an effect whether through music or spoken drama.

Mrs. Dyke, the president of the Concert Association, declared no such experience had ever happened before in all their concerts. It was only unfortunate that many were prevented by the weather from hearing this dedicated artist whose individuality is full of happy sunshine, or failed to see the graciousness with which she received a large bouquet of white flowers. Other extra numbers were Hi Ho from French Folk Songs by Britten, Oh, what a beautiful City, Boatner, Little David, Play on your Harp, Johnson, and the Scotch Annie Laurie.

Camilla Williams proved a unique addition to visiting artists this season.

Benefit Fashion Show On March 9

"Husbands too" are members of Mrs. Arthur L. Johnson's committee who are sponsoring Fashion in Orbit, the fashion show and cocktail party to be given by Game & Gossip Magazine at the Mark Thomas Inn March 9 for the benefit of the Monterey Peninsula Council for Retarded Children.

Lee Harbick, Game & Gossip editor, has enlisted the service of 10 of the Peninsula's fashion shops, and a bevy of models. John Francis O'Brien, personality of the California networks will come from San Francisco to MC the event.

An added attraction will be ballet divertissements by pupils of the Patricia Ramsey School of Dance Arts, Sherri Yokomiza and Paul Vecker, Nancy Lee and Susan Ferguson will act as pages. An unusual setting is being devised by Marilyn Carlson, muralist.

Mrs. Johnson, president of the Council will be assisted by Mr. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Byington Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Church, Mr. and Mrs. Cedric Jasper and Mr. and Mrs. C. Pierce Parsons.

GEORGE DAVIDSON HOME

George Bindley Davidson has returned from a trip to Haiti, the Virgin Islands, South America, Madagascar and Ceylon. Tomorrow evening he will be the guest of honor at the welcome home cocktail party which his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Davidson are giving at the Beach Club.

TWO FIRE CALLS

Carmel Fire Department had two calls this week: On Monday they stood guard until repair crews arrived at San Carlos and Eighth Streets when a high tension wire broke in the storm at 1:22 o'clock in the afternoon. Sunday the fire truck was called to the house of John Clancy, Scenic Avenue and Ninth Streets, when a roast in the oven caught fire. The flames were out when firemen arrived and there was no property damage.

Sparkling Production Of Road To Frisco Is Hit At State Monument First Theater

Vitality and assurance marked the opening of The Road to Frisco at the First Theater of Monterey last Friday night as a gala event. Richard Bailey, directing his first production for the Dene Denny Management, introduced a fast moving technique in the melodrama of the Gold Rush days; and surprise ensemble and solo numbers in the Olio divertissments that followed.

Practically the entire cast is new to the Peninsula. Beautiful to look upon, delightfully young and with four years of professional experience, Letitia Reynolds is a find. She presented "Eureka Dawson, child of the hills," with a blend of gusto and maidenly appeal. Rod Stark, as Bud Easton, hero, and foiler of the villainous plot to betray his gal, had just about all the requisites of a hero of "them there days when men were men, never less than six feet tall, rugged as the Rockies and very, very high minded."

An outstanding performance, well worthy of the first nighters' hisses, was given by Hugh Nelson as the oily villain. In supporting male roles Carl Sherman, Woodward Bethea, and Wayne Edwards gave sharply defined characterizations.

The inevitable wicked woman, Belle Murdock, in her corsetted silk gowns and blazing with diamonds, was indeed a female hellion, played by Mary Burton.

Madeliene Hicks, raucous, with lightening swift changes of mood from laughter to embattled rage, as Mary Ellen Donovan was a shining success. Bob Rasmussen played her fearsome and fearful spouse to perfection.

Costuming by Rhoda Johnson and sets by Charles Thomas went far to create authentic atmosphere of the late nineteenth century in the 'far West'. Mrs. Johnson, who is rounding her 23rd year as costume designer at the First Theatre, is to be further praised for her delightful color harmonies throughout the play and Olio.

Susan Lee, "the orchestra" was at the piano throughout the evening as Mr. Bailey, breaking precident, introduced incidental music in many scenes; Hearts and Flowers for love . . . Handel's Funeral March, to help the villain into the hereafter.

The young director brought his play to the final curtain with a fresh and unexpected flourish, a series of tableaux that won salvos af applause.

The ten acts that followed were introduced by Alex Olivetti who, turned up time after time in the acts. His singing, in duet, with Gay Jerahian, Ya got yer Brand upon my Heart, written and composed by Dee Olivetti, was one of the comedy high spots.

Miss Reynolds proved her talent and versatility in her dramatic and highly vocal presentation of O Pity the Life of a Gambler's Wife.

Honors for stopping the show on opening night went to two Olio acts: Hugh Nelson's recitation of The Face on the Barroom Floor and The Butcher Boy with Ruth De Roshey as the Girl; Gilda Dayton, her Mother; Carl Sherman, the Butcher Boy; Woodward Bethea, the Baker; Hugh Nelson, the Fisherman, and Alex Olivetti as the Miner. In setting, singing and acting The Butcher Boy was the perfect production piece.

James Helms, with his guitar accompanied both LeRoy Ottman in his skillfully danced Flamenco, and Woodward Bethea's singing of Water Boy. Climaxing the colorful variety of the evening's program was a Buck and Wing by Patricia Knight of Salinas.

Kay Knudsen is to be complimented upon the lighting effects. Properties were handled by Gilda Dayton. Actor Carl Sherman was stage manager, assisted by Leroy Ottman.

Dene Denny is to be congratulated upon her selection of a fine play, and her new director Richard Bailey whose casting and directing distinguished.

Gen. E. F. Bullene

Major General Frank Egbert Bullene, a Carmel resident since 1954, died last Friday in Letterman General Hospital San Francisco, where he had been a patient since the first of the year.

General Bullene was born in Salinas on January 25, 1895. He grew up in Pacific Grove and attended Pacific Grove High School and Columbia Preparatory School before receiving an appointment to the United States Naval Academy. He graduated from Annapolis in 1917, chose to enter the Army and was commissioned a second lieutenant and assigned to the 15th Cavalry at Camp Fremont, later at Douglas, Arizona.

When the United States entered World War I, General Bullene was among the first 100,000 soldiers sent to France and served with the 77th Field Artillery (Fourth Division) as a battery commander participating in the Battle of the Marne and the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

In 1919 he married Miss Lois Esther Salsman, a former Pacific Grove schoolmate.

In 1925 General Bullene entered the Chemical warfare field and served as company commander, later adjutant, of the First Gas Regiment at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland. He attended the Army Industrial College in Washington, D. C. and after graduation was assigned to the training division of the Office of Chief of the Chemical Warfare Service, then commanded the Fourth Chemical Company at Fort William McKinley in the Philippine Islands. In 1932, when Japan invaded China, General Bullene was on a mission to the latter country. In 1937 he was graduated from the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, and in 1940, from the Army War College in Washington, D.C. He commanded troops at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, until 1942 then served as Commander of the Chemical Warfare Service training center at Camp Siberia, Alabama.

General Bullene commanded a joint British, American and Canadian secret project on tropical warfare during World War II and was awarded the Legion of Merit for this work. In 1945 he went to Europe on an emergency mission and was awarded the Bronze Star medal for this service.

After V-J Day, General Bullene became a member of the military commission which tried and convicted Japanese General Yamashita for war crimes. In 1946 he assumed command of the Army Chemical Center at Edgewood Arsenal and was made Chief Chemical Officer of the Army in June, 1951, with the rank of major general.

In March, 1954, General Bullene retired from active duty and came to live in Carmel.

He is survived by his wife and a son, Roger, attending the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Funeral services, conducted by the Reverend Angus Dun. Jr., rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, were held on Tuesday in the Protestant Chapel of the Presidio of San Francisco. Burial was in the National Cemetery at the Presidio.

Guiomar Novaes, one of the world's leading women pianists, will be presented by the Carmel Music Society in Sunset Auditorium at 8:30 o'clock on March 8. This is the last regular concert of the Music Society 1957-58 season.

ORCHID SOCIETY SHOW

The Monterey Bay Orchid Society is holding its fifth annual orchid show March 8 from 2:00 until 9:00 p.m. and March 9 from 10:00 until 5:00, at the Pajaro Valley National Bank at Main and Peck Streets in Watsonville. The Pajaro Valley Bank has sponsored the show for the past five years.

Orchid growers of this area are invited to exhibit their plants and cut flowers for silver trophies. There is no entry fee for plants and the show is open to the public without charge.

A special time is set aside for the convenience of photographers from 8:00 until 10:00 a.m. on Sunday.

The Honorable Goodwin J. Knight, Governor of California, will be the speaker at the Civilian Defense dinner tomorrow evening in the Bali Room of the United States Naval Postgraduate School. Miss Phyllis Howard, president of Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club, hostess group for the event, is seen (second from right above) making arrangements with her assistants, Mrs. [illegible] Nichels, president of the Monterey BPWC, (extreme right), Mrs. Maude Powell, president of Salinas BPWC, (left of Miss Howard) and Mrs. Florence Berry, president of Pacific Grove BPWC (extreme left). Also assisting the Carmel BPWC president, but not pictured, is Mrs. Patti Underwood, president of Seaside BPWC.

Senator Fred Farr will be master of ceremonies for the affair and introduce guests among whom will be senior Senator Earl Desmond and Mrs. Desmond from Sacramento, Assemblyman Alan Pattee, and heads of state departments immediately concerned with Civilian Defense. Governor Knight will explain how these agencies fit into the State Civilian Defense picture. Captain H. M. Gleason, head of Carmel Civil Defense, sponsored the Carmel BPWC, thus enabling the group to obtain the use of the Bali Room. A cocktail hour, starting at 6:30 o'clock, precedes tomorrow evening's dinner at 7:30. The public is invited and tickets may be purchased at Carmel Cleaners.

Peggy Still Concerned About Lonely Hearts

write of the touchy subjects found in Peggy's book, but after she left Carmel, she edited a lonely hearts column in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, and through it she gained a new understanding of human woes. She says of her column: "As might be expected, there were the usual letters about the age-old problems — unfaithful husbands, unhappy wives, quarreling in-laws and rebellious teenagers. I made up the column mostly from them, because they are thought to be interesting reading. But it was the letters I didn't print — because there were so many of them and because I had no pat answers — which gave me sleepless nights with their heartbreaking refrain . . ." She found that the biggest problem in these letters was plain loneliness. You can add to her newspaper experiences a big heart, a sympathetic feeling for the lonely and the unfortunate, and a strong will to help. These qualities shine through every sentence in the book.

Peggy isn't afraid to dip into the controversial as is evident in some of her chapters, such as Only Snobs Snub, Meeting by Mail, What Price Marriage, Romance by Radio, Where You Fit In. She gives many case histories and has done extended research in what is being done for those in various walks of life who are suffering from inability to make friends and to belong to groups.

The school of journalism of the University of Oregon gave Peggy Bramer a good start in a writing career. She went on to become a cub reporter on the Coos Bay Times where she had to cover everything from prize fights to society events. Then came free lancing in Portland, writing advertising in New York, European travel. Then the Carmel interval, which brought romance, marriage and children.

Now for some time Peggy has been free lancing and teaching an adult class in Social Planning which she says is "just helping people to plan for their leisure time — discovering what there is to do in a city — exposing them to what goes on — exploring the city's cultural, social and recreational possibilities. It is the great need of the future. How to plan leisure time so we will be a whole, healthy, happy people."

Meet More People — Have More Fun is being discussed over many teacups in San Francisco and elsewhere, and the book seems to be a popular subject on radio programs as well, for both the Don Sherwood and the Bill Weaver shows have had Peggy on their programs for interviews. She is pretty optimistic about the book sales, and says that when they reach 50,000 copies, she is coming back to live in Carmel.

Iris Merrill

Word has been received of the death of Iris Frances Colvin Merrill on February 9 in Roosevelt Hospital, New York City. Mrs. Merrill was the daughter of Mrs. Martha O'Brien Colvin of Long Beach and of the late Dr. William Putnam Colvin Sr.

She was born in New York City on March 18, 1919, and graduated from high school in Neosho, Missouri, before attending Lindenwood College in St. Alman's, Missouri, where she was a member of Lamba Chi Club.

Mrs. Merrill was first married to Colonel Robert Arcularius and lived with her mother at El Sueno in Carmel. Later she married Allen Hunter Merrill.

She was a member of the Susan B. Anthony chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution and St. Paul's Episcopal Church, both in Long Beach.

Survivors besides her husband, are four children, Lisa, Allen Kent Jr., Evelyn and William Colvin Merrill; one sister, Mrs. William F. Hennessy of Torrance; three brothers, Dr. William Putnam Colvin Jr. of Briarcliff, New York, Charles Edward Colvin of Long Beach, and Harold Riley Colvin of New York City. Another sister, Betse Colvin Strella died in 1955.

Funeral services were held at St. James Protestant Episcopal Church in New York City. Burial was in that city in Woodlawn Cemetery.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

A most interesting book is now ready for circulation. It was written by Will Ousler and is entitled The Healing Power of Faith. Mr. Ousler set himself to investigate faith healing and healing through spiritual understanding as it occurs both in and out of recognized churches. His book is divided into three sections. The first is concerned with Healing the Body, the second with Healing the Mind, and the third with Healing the Soul. The book is the result of two and a half years of intensive investigation which opened to Will Ousler what he calls "the unpredictable excitement of religion in action". The several appendices are valuable also. In one he lists the major spiritual healings described in the Bible, separating them into the New and Old Testaments. He also lists churches and shrines where services associated with healing are held. A helpful bibliography lists books which Ousler used in his investigations. This is a book for those in ease and in disease for it helps to open up the knowledge of the unlimited resources of Omnipotence.

Our play collection has been increased by a copy of Paddy Chayefsky's drama Middle of the Night. It is a sensitive story of the love of a middle aged business man for a young girl. The characters are normal, average people whom you will understand and like.

Christopher Hibbert is said to be a man who is enthralled with the 18th century. His book The Road to Tyburn is the story of Jack Sheppard and the underworld of London in which he lived. Sheppard was already a legendary character by the time he was hanged at age twenty-two, and Hibbert tells us that 200,000 people gathered to see the hanging all the while hoping that the victim would escape. The book is engrossing reading, engrossing but horrifying.

Distant Early Warning, America's first line of defense, has been shortened to DEW line, and that is the title of a book by Richard Morenus. This line lies well within the Arctic Circle and its functioning gives us hours for preparation in case of enemy attack. Morenus' book builds the DEW line before your very eyes and explains its functioning.

We have our usual line-up of books for Lenten reading, some are new, some are older. Several others are still on order but, due to conditions beyond our control, have not yet arrived. We hope they will be here soon enough to do some good this season. Rest assured that when they come we will rush them out to you.

The healing power of divine Love will be the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Carmel on Monday, March 10 by Albert Clinton Moon of Chicago.

Mr. Moon will speak in the church edifice, Monte Verde St., near Sixth Ave. at 8:00 p.m. under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Carmel. His subject will be "Christian Science Reveals Divine Love in Action".

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Moon is on a nationwide speaking tour. A native of Lorain, Ohio, he withdrew from business in 1933 to devote his full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

BOYER ONE-MAN S. F. SHOW

Louise Cardeiro Boyer is having an exhibition of her recent paintings at the Lucien Labaudt Art Gallery, 1407 Gough Street, San Francisco, through March 19. Pictures may be seen on Tuesdays from 1:00 - 9:00 o'clock and Wednesdays through Saturdays from 1:00 - 6:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The show opening was on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Boyer, a member of the Carmel Art Association and of the Rental Gallery of the San Francisco Museum of Art, is the director of the Carmel School of Art in the Craft Studios on San Carlos Street.

GOOD OLD DAYS

The good old days? Just how good were they anyway? The casually operated grocery with food unpackaged, unrefrigerated, meats held at uncontrolled temperature, produce, fruits, vegetables handled far too many times.

And how about that nostalgic old-time "dry goods store" with bolts of yardage, not pre-shrunk, given no formula protection against moths, fading . . . those racks of dresses never proportioned for the tall girl, not scaled down for the mature woman with the junior figure, ignoring entirely the half sizes some women must wear. How about the men of the family who had to have custom-tailored suits, overcoats, the youngsters whose clothing bore the "made at home by loving hands" stamp?

Carmel stores at your doorstep bring a variety and wealth of goods undreamed of by grandmother and her mustachioed mate. Modern technology packages, freezes, safeguards vitamin and mineral elements in almost every food available. The world of fashion has built an industry around the kind of clothing preferred by the teen-ager, the tot, and the youngster in between. Their mothers and fathers find apparel that dries in minutes, never needs ironing, ready-made at budget prices.

The world of science gives the woman at home mechanical instruments that clean her house, cook her food, launder her clothing, entertain her family, and protect their health and well-being.

If it's new, it's modern, it's forward-looking, you'll find it here.

YOUR LEGISLATOR AT WORK!

ASSEMBLYMAN
ALAN G. PATTEE
34th District
California State Legislature

As we legislators prepare to go back into full budget session on March 3, it has been made certain that a special session will be called to enable us to consider several matters other than state finances. The Governor has stated that he will call such a session, and has identified three items that he plans to include in his proclamation. He has not yet said, however, whether the special will be called to run concurrently with the budget meeting.

First item to be named is the serious situation caused by land subsidence in the Long Beach harbor area. Hearings which were held by the Assembly Interim Committee on Manufacturing, Oil and Mining Industry reviewed this critical problem in considerable detail. This sinking of the ground, which has created a huge crater covering more than 20 square miles, is thought by experts to be result of taking oil and other fluids from the Wilmington oil field, largest in California. Tens of millions of dollars have been spent by the City of Long Beach, the Navy, and private owners to repair damage caused by the sinking, but so far nothing has been done to stop it.

The Committee was informed that possibly the best method of slowing down or stopping the sinking would be to pump water or gas into the ground to replace the oil taken out—commonly referred to as repressurization. Legislation is necessary to permit development of such a program, and the Committee's staff is now preparing a bill for our consideration. No easy, cheap, or perfect solution can apparently be worked out, but enactment of such legislation is expected to help.

Second item to be included in the call will be to secure legislative authorization needed to transfer title of State owned tidelands to San Francisco so that the proposed San Francisco Giants baseball park may be completed in time for opening of the 1959 season. Since the state owns all tidelands in the Bay, such a law is needed to make the transaction possible.

Third matter to be put on the agenda will be a proposal to exempt ships under construction from personal property taxes levied by cities and counties. California is believed to be the only state in the union in which local governments are permitted to, and do make such tax levies. It puts our California shipyards at a great competitive disadvantage with shipbuilders in other states, so far as cost is concerned, and deprives our yards and shipbuilding workers of much income they might otherwise get. Since the federal government is expected to back construction of ships costing $3 billion during the next few years, and the first contracts under the program are to be let in the near future, it would seem that the matter deserves the urgent consideration of your legislators.

In addition to these three subjects already announced, there may very well be other matters which the Governor will lay before us. Many suggestions have been made to him concerning topics for inclusion, some publicly, and undoubtedly others privately. Under our state Constitution, the decisions as to items is his to make, but once put in the proclamation, each subject becomes the full property of the legislature as to whether it will be acted on at all, and as to what kind of action will be taken on it. Since special sessions are subject to the same rules as regular sessions, all interested parties will, of course, have adequate opportunities to present their views and suggestions.

CARMEL FOUNDATION NOTES

The first showing in Carmel of the 1958 Rose Parade in color film will be at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday, afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, shown by Mr. Leslie C. Deck.

The March exhibit at Town House will show paintings of S. C. Yuan, who, in January, gave a talk and demonstration of Chinese painting for the Carmel Foundation members, who at that time expressed the hope of seeing more of his work. Although born in China, Yuan was trained early both in Western style painting and in the English language. After a period as interpreter for the United States Air Force in Southwest China during World War II he came to the United States to live, and in 1953 became an instructor in the Mandarin Department of the Army Language School. Now, however, he has given up this position in order to have more time for his painting. Some of his work was recently seen in a one-man show at the Carmel Art Association Gallery. The present exhibit will open on Tuesday and remain open throughout the month during regular Town House hours, 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock Monday through Friday.

Symphony Concert For Carmel Kids Saturday Morning

ranged by Hans Kindler. Then comes the third movement (allegro) from Mozart's Horn Concerto, featuring soloist Joseph Axup on the French horn. A history of the development of this instrument and its function in the orchestra will be given. The second movement from Tschaikowsky's Fifth Symphony is the third number on the program which ends with two dances, Saturday Night Waltz and Hoe Down, from Copland's contemporary Rodeo.

The free music education opportunity provided in Saturday morning's Youth Concert is made possible through the generosity of the Monterey Peninsula League for Community Service, the Symphony Guild, the Monterey branch of the Music Teachers Association of California, the Pacific Grove Business and Professional Women's Club and Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Company who have helped the Symphony Association defray the $1,000 cost of presenting the Youth Concert.

Symphony board member Mrs. Glenrose Bell Jaffe is chairman of Youth Concert arrangements assisted by Mrs. Peter Dyer, Mrs. Joseph Axup, Mrs. Hugh Stevens, Mrs. Virginia Streeton, Mrs. F. L. Wallace, Mrs. King Benton and Miss Sheila Webster. Stanley Cummings, Edwin Trinker, David Walton, Eugene Harrah and Dan Snell will help with production details, members of the Peninsula League will usher, and Symphony Guild members contribute their services where needed. Miss Mary Lindsay-Oliver has written the excellent program notes.

Musicale Get-Together Friday

Students of Mary Lindsay-Oliver held a "get-together" in the DeNeale Morgan Studio on Friday evening to perform before an audience of friends in order to gain experience for public appearance. Impromptu performances of pieces under study were given by DeNeale Morgan, niece of Mrs. Jeanie M. Klenke, who played a Chopin prelude and Heller Etude on the piano, followed by Dorothy Lind, Ora Fallis and Anita Sohn, recent beginners in the study of voice, who presented English, Italian and German selections.

Nancy Caravan, five and a half years old, and the only small child Miss Lindsay-Oliver has accepted for study played three pieces from memory including a Haydn Rondo in which the audience was astonished with young performer's mature touch and expression. Advanced voice pupils David Schoenbrod, Dick Turner, Marjorie Pegram and Joyce Bishop were heard in Italian, French and English songs and operatic arias. Miss Lindsay-Oliver, by request, played two of her own compositions and sang two Scottish songs of the Hebrides, accompanied by Dick Turner.

Mrs. Klenke served refreshments at the close of the musical program. Another "get-together" is planned for next month in preparation for programs of advanced work later on.

Surprise For Ginny

Virginia von Hasseln went for a ride, as usual, with a group of friends on Saturday morning, her twelfth birthday. The friends directed their horses towards Indian Village and when Ginny arrived there she found a larger group of friends gathered to surprise her with a picnic luncheon party. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edmund W. von Hasseln.

Woman's Club Benefit Program

A romantic exploration of the charms of Vienna and its haunting melodies will be presented, not only for members and guests of the Carmel Woman's Club, but for any person who would enjoy the recitalogue to be given at the club house March 7, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

The husband and wife team, Sven and Anne Reher, outstanding musicians and entertainers, will conduct the audience on a musical pilgrimage which will take them along the road of Viennese history from the days of the Roman Empire up to the present era. Their program will be given in full costume. Mrs. Reher's appeal is such that the General Petroleum Corporation bought up her programs for the entire year and sponsors her appearances around the state, paying all expenses, but making the sole stipulation that the proceeds be given to an approved charity. In this instance they will be divided among the Carmel Foundation Town House, the Girl Scouts and the Youth Center. Mr. Reher is one of the outstanding violists of our country.

Members and others desiring tickets may procure them at the Browse-Around Record Shop, the Wells' Book and Music Store, the Graham Music Store, or by calling Mrs. Carl Menneken at MA 4-7865 or Mrs. Florence B. Elliott at MA 4-7857. Because of the limited seating capacity of the club house it is suggested that tickets be secured early.

RLS Activities

Oriental Fantasy, first dance of the spring semester, was held on Saturday night in Douglas Hall at the Robert Louis Stevenson School. Bob Price was chairman for the event. Jan Eliassen, Dennis O'Connell and Mark Zelinsky were in charge of decorations. Chaperones were Headmaster and Mrs. Robert U. Ricklefs, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Simard and Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Barrows. Sixty couples danced to the music of Ken Musouka and his M.P.S. Rhythm Masters.

This Saturday the R.L.S. tennis team will be host for the Northern California Inter-Scholastic Tennis Tournament to be played on the Pebble Beach courts. Schools entered are Lick Wilmerding from San Francisco, San Rafael Military Academy and Menlo School for Boys. Players and coaches will be Stevenson School dinner guests on Friday night. Matches start at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning with Bobby Ricklefs, Bo Day, Dave Harvey and Hal Jurgensen on the RLS team. C. Fredric Hobbs is RLS coach and John Gardiner is acting as tournament manager.

Nesbitts' Disaster Drama

The flu "Fu Manchu type" first hit John Nesbitt, producer of radio, television and movie dramas; and triggered a succession of family disasters which built into a life script of soap opera proportions. John was barely able to leave his flu bed when his wife, Priscilla, collapsed with the Fu Manchu bug and spent last week in the hospital. While she was gone Penny Nesbitt broke out with German measles; Brian Casiday, Mrs. Nesbitt's son, succumbed to flu; and Michel Nesbitt was involved in an automobile accident which destroyed the family station wagon. Between the measles and flu collapse, and before the accident, John had to leave the family and make a flight to Los Angeles on recording commitments.

This week, although Priscilla is facing a month's recuperation at home in bed, the family is somewhat in shape with a housekeeper enabling Priscilla to rest, Brian and Penny ready for school again. Mike unhurt in the accident, and Joe, the youngest Nesbitt child, progressing normally, as he did through all the family tribulations of last week.

Popular Organ Concert

Members of the Monterey County Chapter of the Hammond Organ Society met recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Graham. Mrs. Graham was the first performer on the afternoon program, giving two selections on the chord organ. Charles Blundell followed, playing five numbers on the Hammond spinet. Then Jackie Lane gave an almost unbroken parade of popular hit tunes, interspersed with perennial favorites by Gershwin, Liszt, Kreisler and Johann Strauss, dressed up in her own arrangements. Miss Lane appears in the Valley Bowl, Salinas, having come to this area from Denver in January. At the close of the program, refreshments were served by the hostess in her rumpus room.

Leaches Are Carmelites Now

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Leach have moved to Carmel from Portland, Oregon, and are living in the house which they purchased in Hatton Fields. In the past they visited Carmel frequently and always wanted to live here, "so I sold out my interest in the Viewmaster concern," says Mr. Leach, "and decided to realize my dream." Here the Leaches remain for a month, then depart for Italy for six months and then they will be permanent Carmelites.

Mr. Leach, a photographer, has travelled over the world making the stereopticon photographs used in Viewmasters. He spent two months in Russia last year, has photographed President Nehru in India, and his letter from Balmoral Castle expresses Queen Elizabeth's thanks for receiving his photographic record of her coronation. He also has photographed the Monterey Peninsula for Viewmaster.

After his return to Carmel, Mr. Leach will be a free lance photographer, and promises he will be happy to show his colored slides of the world to interested groups.

Gardiners' Tenth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gardiner celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary on Friday at a cocktail party given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne. After the party in the Osborne home most of the guests went on to the Beach Club for the Washington's Birthday dinner dance.

Woman's Club General Meeting

Broadway in Review will be presented to the members of the Carmel Woman's Club at their general meeting on Monday afternoon, when Mr. Everett Noonan, eminent reviewer and actor, will discuss and give excerpts from some of the season's best plays.

Mr. Noonan has had a long history of theatre experience and training. Although he works without costumes or scenery, and relies solely on the expert use of change of voice and facial expression for his effects, the characters he depicts are brought to life for his audiences.

Among Mr. Noonan's activities is book reviewing, and he has pioneered the movement to bring great books and authors to the TV screen. Publishers of America choose him to launch their TV program Cavalcade of America on which he interviewed such outstanding authors as James Hilton, Adela Rogers St. John and Aldous Huxley, and many famous theatre and moving picture personalities.

There will be a tea hour following the program during which Mrs. Alec Cleary and Mrs. Lawrence Kinsler will pour. Those who will assist the hospitality chairman Mrs. Samuel B. Moore, will be Mrs. C. U. Fonteneau, Mrs. D. M. Kerr, Mrs. Barbara V. Murphy, Mrs. L. J. Fletcher, Mrs. Helen Hunt Roberts and Mrs. Jennie Wasserman. Mrs. William Eklund will arrange the flowers.

Mona's Personal Appearances

Mona Williams, with her novel The Marriage hitting California best seller lists, is busy making radio, television and personal appearances at writers' gatherings. Today she is in San Francisco to be a guest at the third annual Book and Author Luncheon in the Mural Room of the St. Francis Hotel, at which Noel Coward will share the speakers' table with Max Lerner, Romain Gary and Richard Armour. Luther Nichols is master of ceremonies. Guests of honor besides Mona, include C. Y. Lee, Mortimer Adler, Louis O. Kelso, Art Cohn and Wallace Stegner.

Last week end Mona was in Sacramento to appear on television and this week end she flies to Los Angeles for the same reason, coming home on Tuesday. "Then I'm going to stay in Carmel for a month," she says.

High School PTA Meeting

Mrs. Robert Osborne, president of the Carmel High School PTA, announces that the next regular meeting of the group will be on Tuesday evening, at 7:30 o'clock, in the high school cafeteria.

The program for the evening will be an explanation of the April 22 bond issue and over-ride tax election, to be given by a member of the Carmel Unified School district's staff.

Preceding the program, hospitality chairman, Mrs. Reed Pollock and her committee will serve coffee and a wide variety of desserts arranged at a dessert bar.

On the agenda for the brief business meeting are plans to select a nominating committee from the floor, and the PTA Honorary Life Membership Award will be presented by the president, Mrs. Osborne. The award will be given to an individual deserving special recognition for outstanding service to children and youth. Mrs. Dale Leidig received the award last year.

An invitation has been extended to members of the Carmel Valley Mother's Club and Parents' Club to attend the meeting.

exacting and difficult to resolve, received little public appreciation, although it constituted a continuity of public service which distinguishes the value of the Commission to the Community.

One of the most important acts of the Commission, because it was purely administrative in nature, attracted little notice. And yet its effects are to be found in every act, and can be recognized from the improved thoroughness, efficiency and enterprise with which the Commission has been able to work. Early in the year the body reorganized on a Committee basis, establishing three Standing Committees, Architectural Matters, Land Use and Public Improvements. All matters are now studied first in Committee, receiving specialized consideration, before coming to the Commission for final action. The consequence is that a continuity in planning matters has been attained, and a thorough specialization in study not heretofor possible has been achieved. While it required increasing devotion of time by members of the Commission, it appears that the effectiveness of the Committee method has benefited to a degree justifying the time.

Among the matters receiving prominent attention was, of course, the General Plan referred to earlier, which is now before the City Council for consideration.

The application of Charles and Dorothy Schultz for permission to construct a motel at Junipero and 5th Avenues was directly as well as indirectly responsible for the enunciation of several general policies and a thoroughly objective study of compatibility of land uses that may eventually have profound meaning to the community as well as the particular zone at that time under consideration. A direct consequence of this issue was the adoption of two important ordinances, one now a part of the Municipal Code, the other interim in nature, regarding landscaping and the provision of open spaces and setbacks for this purpose.

The Commission also dealt in an advisory capacity with the problem of land and subdivision development outside of the City in an effort to support on our periphery the principles and characteristics identified with our total environment. The efforts appear so far to be distinguished by a lack of success in persuading other responsible bodies to respect these objectives.

Members of the Commission on the Joint Committee were primarily responsible for an appraisal of the problems of sustaining our unique urban forest. Their studies resulted in a report which has been accepted with enthusiasm as unusually definitive and comprehensive, and which may prove to be the foundation of a successful program to preserve and improve the forest.

During the year Mrs. Dora Comstock resigned from the Commission, terminating a planning career exemplary for its appreciation of community environment and traditions. Mr. Hugh Smith was appointed to succeed Mrs. Comstock.

Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger also reluctantly resigned, losing to the Commission a perceptive and stimulating association which had figured prominently in so many of the Commission's successful functions. Mrs. Jessie Macgregor was appointed to succeed Mrs. Kiplinger.

Mr. Herbert Blanks, completing his first term on the Commission, was reappointed to succeed himself.

The Commission has since been constituted as follows: Mr. George Willox, chairman; Mrs. Talbert Josselyn, Committee on Land Use; Mr. Herbert Blanks, Committee on Land Use; Mrs. Jessie Macgregor, Committee on Public Improvements; Mr. Hugh Smith, Committee on Public Improvements; Mr. Lee Gottfried, Committee on Architectural Matters; Mr. Fred Keeble, Committee on Architectural Matters.

Ex-Officio members were: L. D. Rose, secretary; Floyd Adams, Building Inspector; John W. Morse, City Attorney.

—L. D. Rose, secretary.

The Scardiglis Expand Studio 7 In Carmel Craft Studios

menced studies as a painter but switched soon to sculpture, his final professional medium. In the Bay Area he did considerable architectural sculpture before coming here. He has taught sculpture at Mills College and at the American University of Biarritz. In consultation with San Francisco architect George Downs, he designed the newly completed Studio 7 in the Carmel Craft Studios.

Evelyn Scardigli is a painter, favoring the field of water colors. She has taught art and been a professional window display artist. The interior display of the Scardigli jewelry originals are her work. In Carmel, as apprentice to a Carmel jewelry craftsman, she learned the art in which she now collaborates with her husband.

"Sculpture transfers itself very readily into jewelry design," Remo Scardigli says. "We feel that modern jewelry is a relatively unexplored field. There are hundreds of materials and forms that remain still to be discovered."

In the new Studio 7 Remo and Evelyn Scardigli will continue to create original modern jewelry to order, and to show designs from their collection. In the new Studio 7, however, particular stress will be laid on cultured pearls, those of unusual color — gold, pink, ice-blue, grey — and of interesting form: baroque and other types, shown in both necklace and bracelet strands, and as gems mounted in contemporary jewelry pieces.

Daniel Grant McDonald Born

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McDonald, III, have named their first son and second child Daniel Grant after his maternal great-great-grandfather, Daniel Grant Webber. The baby was born on February 16 in the Peninsula Community Hospital with a birth weight of five pounds, 11 ounces. He has a sister Linda "almost two." Daniel's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. McDonald of Carmel Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Olson of Carmel and Clarksburg. His great-grandmother is Mrs. M. M. Brown of San Francisco.

Wild Rumors Won't Assist School Bonds

itself without a place to meet if the bonds and over-ride tax fail.

Peter Ferrante, former school trustee and one of the members of the advisory committee to the school Board on the election told the Pine Cone that there were questions asked at Friday's meeting on these subjects, but "I didn't pay much attention; everybody was batting the breeze; I certainly don't remember anything said about the Bach Festival or the Symphony. It's ridiculous — the bond election couldn't affect them."

The pinch will not be felt severely by the pre-schoolers or the adults, it will be felt by the students, which is the strongest argument any school board or citizens' committee could present to the voters.

Warren Edwards, high school principal, told the Pine Cone last week that if the bonds and override tax fail, it will mean that high school classes will run as large as 40 students and that enrichment courses and much of the extra-curricular program will have to be dropped.

The same effect will be felt in the grade schools. Fewer new teachers will be hired, and the district will not be able to bring its teachers' pay up to standard of comparable districts.

Transportation and cafeteria service will be badly cramped, according to Mr. Mitchell.

An item of importance in the over-ride tax is provision for additional land purchase for a high school in Carmel Valley. This should have been done at the last bond election, but the board hesitated to ask for more when class room construction was so essential.

mel Unincorporated, which revealed a majority of the people in the unincorporated areas, in about 60-40 proportion, do not favor annexation.

The committee appointed as chairman Chris Neddersen, former Carmel City Tax Collector and at present secretary to the sanitary district during William Satchell's leave of absence. Norman Fontes, they selected for their secretary.

They decided to apportion the work to six committees: fire, police, streets, planning and zoning, library and general government. Each was asked to write on a sheet of paper the committee on which he would prefer to serve. They will meet again March 6, 7:30 o'clock, at city hall, and every two weeks thereafter on a night to be determined later.

Besides the mayor, other councilmen present were Jim Buffington and Everett May. City Clerk Larry Rose also attended.

Carmel Red Cross Drive Opens Monday

found it difficult this year to carry on its usual programs of relief and rehabilitation because for the first time, due to the many serious floods, hurricanes and tornadoes of the past few years, National has no reserve of funds left to draw upon. As of now the Red Cross is on a strictly 'pay as you go' basis.

"Since 1935 Carmel has never failed to raise the funds needed. We must not spoil this fine record this year — the need was never more great."
